

Business Appointment Setter

The Company

Our group can boast a turnover of in excess of £3 billion, as well as a track record of phenomenal organic growth and a reputation for success and some major brand names within the Telecommunications industry.

Your Role

Your role will be to work in the new telemarketing team. You will be responsible for contacting directors, managers and decision makers in businesses across the UK to arrange business appointments for the field sales team.

This is an ideal opportunity to gain exposure into one of Europe's most successful sales and marketing organisations and could be the start of fantastic earnings and a fast track career to management. You will be given fantastic training on company products and services and be able to follow a clear and structured progression path.

You

You will be career hungry, extremely self motivated and a keen, confident communicator. The ideal candidate will have previous relevant experience – either in inbound/ outbound sales, appointment setting or retention departments – preferably from a telecoms background.
